I was delighted to see the marvelous Khmer sculptures presented in the book Adoration and Glory: The Golden Age of Khmer Art by Emma C. Bunker and Douglas A. J. Latchford.

This publication presents a particularly fascinating insight into the richness and great cultural achievement of Khmer culture through its sculptures. It is the first time that these major works have been brought together, many of which have never before been shown to the public.

I believe this book is destined to be a great success and will enhance the understanding and appreciation of the history and civilization of Cambodia's past. I also trust that all those who are passionate about the exploration and preservation of Khmer culture will find this book invaluable.

Thanks therefore go to Emma Bunker and Douglas Latchford for their comprehensive research into the myriad forms of Khmer sculpture and for their dedication to Cambodia's cultural heritage.
